All wriring methods shall be isolated from corrugated stainless steel tubing by a space separation of at least 2 inches. See also Section G2411.1.  REASON AND FISCAL IMPACT The above was included in the 2005 IRC and is a requirement from one (some, all?) of the manufacturer's directions for the installation of CSST. I am not sure it belongs in the IRC since it is part of the manufacturer's directions for installation. I felt like I would be remiss in my work if I did not include it as a proposal.
